

High Lights

Trial Gardens and HortResearch at the South Mississippi Branch Experiment Station

Volume 5, Number 3

June 7, 2018

Published by Dr. Gene Blythe

Get Social in the Garden #AASWinners

We invite you to visit our All-America Selections Display Garden at the experiment station in Poplarville. The Pearl River County Master Gardeners have done a fantastic job designing, planting, and maintaining our 2018 AAS Display Garden. The 2018 Blueberry Jubilee on June 9 would be a great time to visit and see many AAS Winners in bloom.

This year, we are competing with other gardens across the U.S. and Canada in the 2018 AAS Display Garden Design Challenge, with the theme "Get Social in the Garden." Here's how you can help:

1. Visit our AAS Display Garden between now and September 15.
2. Take a selfie or garden photo in our AAS Display Garden to post on your favorite social media site.
3. Be sure to include the hashtag #AASWinners in all of your Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, and Pinterest posts!

The 2018 Blueberry Jubilee will be held in Poplarville on Saturday, June 9. The Trials Gardens at the South Mississippi Branch Experiment Station and tours of the USDA-ARS Southern Horticultural Laboratory will be included on the one-hour wagon tours that will depart from behind the courthouse in downtown Poplarville every 30 minutes between 9:00 AM and 2:00 PM, weather permitting. Visitors wishing to walk through the Trial and Display Gardens at their leisure may drive to the station at 711 W. North Street and park in the gravel parking area. (www.blueberryjubilee.org)